DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on July 28, 2006 has been entered.

Claims 37, 42, 44 and 51 are pending in the instant application.

Claims 37, 42, 44 and 51 are under examination in the instant office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Art Unit: 1649

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 37, 42, 44 and 51 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lee et al., 1991 (reference C29, IDS 11/13/2000) in view of Harlow and Lane, 1988 (cited in prior action).

Claims 37, 42, 44 and 51 are directed to an immunogenic composition comprising a peptide consisting essentially of a tau peptide amino acid sequence 259-267 of SEQ ID NO: 1 and a carrier molecule, and method of producing that composition.

Publication of Lee et al. discloses a fragment comprising residues 251-264 of human tau, see first column at p. 677. Because fragment 251-264 originated from tau proteins isolated from brains of patients with AD, it comprises both phosphorylated and non-phosphorylated Serine residues at position 262, absent evidence to the contrary. The article of Lee et al. does not explicitly teach immunogenic compositions comprising fragment 251-264; however, it teaches production of antibodies using larger proteins (18, 21 and 23 kD), which comprise the instant disclosed fragment.

Art Unit: 1649

Reference of Harlow and Lane teaches standard methods of generation of antibodies, which includes preparation of immunogenic compositions suitable for administration to an animal and protocols describing such administration.

At the time the invention was made, it would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to produce an antibody using a fragment of naturally occurring tau protein, as disclosed by Lee et al. by using knowledge in the art related to generally known methods of antibody production. One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to do this to use the antibody for staining of human brain samples for identification of human tau, which is associated with Alzheimer's disease pathology.
